

Victories & Valleys: A study in the life of David

2 Samuel 7

On Sunday we continued our series Victories & Valleys: a study in the life of David. God's covenant with David speaks volumes about who David was, but even more so about who God is. In David's response, we see a model of response that should be reflected in our own lives.

Getting Started

When was a time you were so overwhelmed with gratitude for something? Something you didn't feel qualified for or worthy of?

Digging Deeper

- From the text above, we see God redirect David with some of his own desires and plans. Have you ever had this experience with God? Is there something else that stood out to you in the text from Sunday?
- David's response to God wasn't marked by disappointment or frustration, but acceptance. Is there anything that you sense God is asking you to accept in this season? Maybe it's even something that could lead to disappointment or frustration? How does David's response speak to you?
- Toran walked through several promises that God has given us. These are written out on the next page. When one of these stuck out to you from Sunday? What about this promise stood out to you in this season?
- We closed the message with a time of reflection and response through a song called "Revelation 1" by Jeremy Riddle. Did you sense God speaking or revealing anything to you in this time? Share with the group.
